

Diagram of a slider-crank mechanism. A pink crank pin is connected to a blue slider block. The slider block moves vertically along a guide. A dashed green line indicates the path of the slider block. Arrows indicate the direction of motion: the slider block moves up, and the crank pin moves in a circular path.

Diagram of a slider-crank mechanism. A pink crank pin is connected to a blue slider block. The slider block moves vertically along a guide. A dashed green line indicates the path of the slider block. Arrows indicate the direction of motion: the slider block moves up, and the crank pin moves in a circular path.

+

